Bevin Target In Kentucky

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin called on the United States to redistribute its vast hoard of gold stored at Fort Knox as one of the surest ways of restoring world economy. Some $12,500,000 of the nation's gold is stored deep in the vaults of this Fort Knox repository.

Marshall Expected to Decide Soon on Congress' Session

Meanwhile Truman Is Accused of Creating 'Synthetic' Crises

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall is expected to decide within the next two weeks whether to recommend a special session of congress for emergency action on the European economic crisis.

Marshall's decision, officials said today, probably will be made shortly after George F. Kennan, the secretary's top policy planner, returns from Paris with the latest information from European officials and American authorities there.

The final decision would be up to President Truman. He has said several times that he would not hesitate to recall the lawmakers if the situation required such a step.

Marshall himself is just back from the Rio De Janeiro conference on inter-American defense and is scheduled to appear with Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) on a 30-minute radio broadcast at 9:30 p. m. (CDT) tonight to report to the nation on the work of the conference. The American and Mutual networks will carry the program.

Shortly before the cabinet officer's return by plane to Washington yesterday afternoon, Undersecretary of State Lovett told a news conference that the situation in Europe is rapidly getting worse.

Dollar Shortage Acute
Lovett said he feels certain that before the end of this year the United States will be compelled to face the hard facts of European necessity. He made it clear that reports from American observers at Paris have presented the crisis as much worse than the American government previously had calculated.

The main trouble appears to be that with a shortage of materials essential for continued existence—chief among them grains—

Wounded Survivor of Crash Is Found

Kenton, O., Sept. 4.—(AP)—A 21-year-old university student, crawled away from the bodies of three Dayton, O., companions and the wreckage of a Stinson 350 private plane yesterday afternoon, bringing to an end a two-day search for the ship and its occupants, missing since Monday night.

Charles Wood Gorman of Tucson, Ariz., son of a Dayton realtor, stumbled into the farmhouse of Walter Geiz and managed despite severe shock to start searchers to the crash scene, a dense thicket about six miles northeast of Dayton.

State highway patrolmen found the body of William Stroop, 22, the pilot, 15 feet from the wreckage. Still strapped to seats were the bodies of Mrs. Raymond C. Stotts, wife of a Dayton airport manager, and Miss Marie Talbot, 20-year-old junior league. During the war Stroop was an army P-51 pilot.

The group had flown to Cleveland over the weekend for the National air races.

Unconscious for many hours, young Gorman said he remembered nothing after the plane was caught in the downdraft.

Two Old Men Puzzled—
Littleton, N. H., Sept. 4.—(AP)—The thing that puzzles 91-year-old Charles Bishop is how Myron Nothery has lived to be 101 and takes no precautions with his diet.

And Nothery, in turn, is a little amazed at Bishop's walking ability at his age—he covered 25 miles in a round trip to the centenarian's home "just so's I could find out how it feels to be over a hundred."

"I don't know how he does it," said Bishop when he discovered Nothery eats anything he wants.

Bishop confines himself to lots of milk, fruit and puffed rice. He acquired the habit of walking New Hampshire's rugged country roads as a sewing machine salesman in his younger days. And he continues the practice today for exercise.

Choses Dangerous Surgery—
Denver, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Virgil Gomez, 27, of Cerro, N. M., who survived the Bataan Death March is scheduled for an operation at Fort Logan Veterans hospital today for removal of a two-inch nail from his skull.

Gomez, who believes the nail was pounded into his skull while he lay unconscious in a Japanese prison camp, elected to undergo the delicate surgery after a week of observation at the hospital.

Unscheduled Vacation—
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Sixty Hanover township school pupils are on an indefinite vacation thanks to a road their bus driver says is too rough to travel.

The bus driver, Andrew Witniski, refused to risk the children's safety in driving over the road in adjoining Warrior Run borough.

Councilman William Bartels on says Warrior Run borough has

Strange Pet

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Phil Mick looked twice when his wife came up from the basement—a bird was sitting on her head.

"This robin flew in the window and watched me washing clothes," Mrs. Mick explained to her husband.

"When I finished it jumped on my back and then—well here it is."

Mick fed the robin and then placed it by an open window, tried showing it out a few times but the bird wouldn't take the hint.

Mick finally decided that the robin will make a nice if somewhat unusual pet.

Huge Underground Gas Storage Holder to Be Installed by INU

Construction of a new type of gas storage holder, consisting of a number of large diameter steel pipes buried under ground, will be started this fall by the Illinois Northern Utilities Company on farm land purchased by the company along the Rock Island road near Rock Falls. It was reported today by George B. Fluhr, president of the company.

The purpose of the storage project, Fluhr explained, is to provide an emergency supply of gas for this area in case of a break in the pipeline carrying natural gas from Texas. A total of five million cubic feet of gas will be stored in the underground reservoir, sufficient for two days of peak-load supply to gas users in Dixon, Sterling, Rock Falls, Morris, Polo, Mt. Morris and Oregon.

Say Bevin's Scheme To Split Fort Knox Gold is 'Senseless'

Congressmen Now in Britain Skeptical Over Proposal

London, Sept. 4.—(AP)—An authoritative American source said today that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's proposal for redistribution of the Fort Knox gold was, in the British view, to be an integral part of the Marshall plan for aiding European economic recovery.

The informant said Bevin had made the suggestion informally in an exchange with U. S. Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas before announcing it publicly yesterday at the Trade Union Congress in Southampton.

In the course of a 70-minute talk today with American congressmen who are investigating economic conditions in Britain and western Europe, the foreign secretary gave several more details of his proposal, this source added.

Bevin's declaration of his proposal for redistributing U. S. gold stocks came in answer to a question from one of the congressmen and the informant said the foreign secretary made these points:

Missing Wife and Spouse Reconciled

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Harriett La Force Moon, 33, told newsmen today she had become reconciled with her husband, James, Bridgeport, Conn., engineer who had instituted a three-day search for her in four states.

Mrs. Moon, who had been reported missing from her Bridgeport home since Sept. 1, arrived at her mother's home last night and said she was surprised at "all this publicity." Police Chief W. Glenn Kervin quoted her as saying that "we've been having a little family trouble."

Moon, however, chartered a plane and arrived at Decatur early today. Later Mrs. Moon was interviewed with her husband at a grocery near her mother's home. She said they had become reconciled, out she and her husband declined to comment further.

Moon had sought police aid in finding his wife and three-year-old daughter when, he said, she failed to meet him in Bridgeport. The officers said the woman was reported to have had between $1,300 and $5,000 in her possession.

Midwest Petroleum Supply Situations Will Remain Tight

Problem Becoming Increasingly Acute as Winter Nears

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The petroleum supply situation in the entire nation is expected to continue "uncomfortably tight" through the coming winter. Max W. Ball, director of the interior department's oil and gas division has informed Rep. Hope (R-Kas).

In a letter to the Kansas who had asked about the situation, Ball said the government is "seriously concerned with the oil supply problem," which he said is particularly acute in Kansas and other middle west states.

Basically, Ball wrote, the problem is one of inability to get materials and supplies, particularly steel for drill pipe, casing, new pipe lines, tank cars, barges and for refinery expansion.

Because of lack of materials, he asserted, the industry has been "unable to grow physically as rapidly as has the demand for its products" and it will not be until there is a free flow of materials that the industry will be able to close the "now widening gap" between supply and demand.

Receives Wide Attention
"The matter is also receiving the intensive attention of the oil industry, of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, and of the several states in order to assure that no feasible action which might be taken to increase the availability of petroleum products is overlooked," Ball said.

In view of the situation, export controls on shipments of petroleum products have been reimposed by the government on recommendation of the secretary of the interior, he added, assuring that exports will be held to a minimum.

The director said the supply outlook is most acute in middle west states.

Drastic decline in production of crude oil in states such as Illinois has made it increasingly necessary that the oil industry in the middle west "go far afield for adequate supplies" of crude and its products, he added.

TODAY'S WEATHER STORY
(By The Associated Press)
The nation's heat belt centering in the southwest and extending from the Dakotas to Texas, began to buckle today as a mass of cool air overspread the northern Rockies and started moving eastward over the northern tier of states.

Temperatures which yesterday soared into the 100's in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma were expected to touch near the 100 mark again today, but federal forecasters expected near normal readings by tomorrow. They said the cooler weather will reach the upper midwest and the Great Lakes and Ohio valley tomorrow.

New records for the date were set in many communities in the heat belt yesterday. Manhattan, Kan., reported an unofficial high of 117, while the weather bureau said the hottest spot on its map was Concordia, Kan., with a sizzling 112.

Forecasters said there were scattered thunderstorms from the northern Rockies across much of the Dakotas, Nebraska, and western Iowa.

Dauntless Wife Comes to Aid of Husband as He Battles Intruder

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(AP)—An intruder in a suburban Highland Park home was shot and critically wounded today when, under cover of darkness, an undaunted wife shipped a gun to her husband.

The shooting occurred in the home of James Mauri, 45, a construction worker.

Police said Mauri told them this story: After being awakened about 2 a. m. by noises he was confronted in the kitchen by a prowler who demanded his money. The intruder threatened to shoot if Mauri turned on the lights. Mrs. Mauri appeared, heard the conversation, and stole back into the bedroom where she obtained an automatic.

She crept back and slipped the pistol to her husband. The prowler lunged toward Mauri and the two scuffled. Mauri fired one shot.

Police, summoned by Mrs. Mauri, found James Kilbane, 26, of Chicago, lying in the yard of the Mauri's next door neighbor, suffering from a bullet wound in the right lung.

Kilbane was taken to the Ft. Sheridan Army hospital after he told police he had re-enlisted in the Army yesterday. Police said today, however, they had learned that he would be removed to another hospital when his condition permitted.

Secretary-General of United Nations at Crucial Period

Lake Success, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Trygve Lie is approaching one of the most crucial periods in his tenure as secretary-general of the United Nations with expressed hopes of an early break in the east-west deadlock stalling international agreement.

With the 55-nation general assembly opening in two weeks for what some observers choose to call a make-or-break session, Lie is confident at least some of the difficulties between the United States and Russia will be wiped away, he told The Associated Press today.

Lie acknowledged that it was impossible to forecast whether the log-jam would be broken as early as this fall, but he added a conviction that "suddenly something will happen."

Nearing the end of his second year as the world's top international civil servant, the 51-year-old Norwegian believes that signing and ratification of all the peace treaties eventually will clear the path for the U. N. to function at top efficiency. He was greatly encouraged by Moscow's recent ratification of the pact with Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Finland.

Thinks U. S. Should Help
Lie believes that the United States should continue to help the rest of the world and feels that any other policy would backfire.

"The American standard is based on exports and international trade," he told The Associated Press. "Almost all countries can't pay in dollars now. Any United States help helps the United States. It is a form of self-help."

A former foreign minister of Norway, Lie was a leading member of the Labor party before assuming his international post.

Measuring the party's position on a left-to-right "yardstick," Lie said he would place his old party "in the center of the labor movement."

As to accusations of leaning too far to the left or right in his U. N. job, Lie said:

Critics on Both Sides
"I have been criticized from all directions. As long as this situation continues I feel I am doing an impartial job. I have been accused by communists of being a traitor to labor. I have been called a reactionary. I have been labeled a Red devil."

"I don't care so long as the attacks come from all sides."

The portly secretary general was criticized when he spoke out for the Russian viewpoint in the

Dixon Banks Have Cashed 375 Bonds

Officials at the Dixon National and City National banks here revealed this morning that 375 servicemen have cashed terminal leave bonds totaling approximately $66,000 since Tuesday, the first day the bonds could be cashed.

The rush to cash the bonds has slowed down yesterday and today, both banks said.

The City National reported that 125 bonds were cashed there totaling $24,000, while approximately 250 bonds were cashed for approximately $42,000 at the Dixon National bank.

It was predicted that most of Lee county's 3,200 veterans would hold their bonds in order to get the 2 1/2 per cent interest. Bankers said that most of those who have cashed theirs planned to use the money to pay off debts or to make down payments on automobiles, homes or home appliances.

Approximately 4,000,000 eligible veterans have not yet applied for terminal leave bonds. They have a year in which to make application.

Meyers Granted Change of Venue in Accounting Trial

Judge Leon A. Zick, Oregon, this morning allowed a petition for change of venue by William E. and Leroy F. Meyers in the action brought by Henry C. Warner, administrator of the estate of the late Alfred Fixter, who asks that property held by the Meyers be held in trust on the charge that they used undue influence in persuading Fixter to turn over cash and property.

The Meyers petition states that the "defendant fears that he will not receive a fair trial in the court in which the suit is pending because the judge thereof, the Honorable Leon A. Zick, is prejudiced against him. The petitioner first had knowledge of said prejudice on Aug. 27, 1947.

Judge Zick indicated that he would contact Judge Harry E. Wheat, Freeport, in an effort to have him preside at future hearings in the case later this month.

Before Judge Zick
The Meyers were named in six indictments with Rep. Lyle M. Prescott, Aug. 26 by the Lee county grand jury in connection with alleged fraudulent land deals, and Judge Zick presided in Lee county Circuit court Aug. 27 when Prescott and William Meyers appeared to post bond. The younger Meyers is now in California, and State's Attorney Morey C. Pires and Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch have gone there with extradition papers for him.

Warner, in the suit, asks that all property held by the Meyers be placed in trust and requested that the defendants make a full accounting, claiming there is improper accounting for the sale of land and for an $8,500 loan to Leroy Meyers and property purchases here.

His complaint contends that in 1935 Fixter owned valuable farmland in Palmyra township, had $30,000 in cash, notes and securities and $10,000 in U. S. bonds.

The defendants are represented by Attorney A. H. Hanneken, Dixon, and the firm of Hall & Hall, Rockford.

Final Briefing Today For Flying Lawmakers

Washington, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Two senators and six representatives get a "final briefing" today for a flying trip to Europe that will take them to 20 countries in 33 days.

The objective of the high-speed swing is an on-the-spot checkup of the state department's controversial cultural and information program with main attention focused on the "Voice of America" radio broadcasts.

"We are trying to go too fast on this," Senator Hatch (D-NM) told reporters. "I believe we would learn more and do a better job if we did not cover so much ground."

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) agreed that it "will be a quick trip" but said he hopes to learn "how effective our program is and how it can be improved."

The investigation was ordered by the senate after a lengthy senate-house controversy over extending the wartime program into the postwar era.

The trip will be made in an army plane departing Friday.

House members expected to make the trip include Reps. Lawrence Smith (R-Wis.) and Gordon (D-Ill.).

Last Laugh

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 4.—(AP)—A restaurant owner admitted today that a customer had the last laugh on him last night.

After the customer, somewhat inebriated, walked out of the cafe without paying his bill, Chronis caught him on the opposite side of the street and reminded him of his oversight.

Cheerfully the customer returned to the cafe. There he pointed to a $10 bill he had left beneath his plate. His bill was only $1, so Chronis gave him his $9 in change.

East Texas Town Torn by Feud Over Parking Meters on Square

Gilmer, Tex., Sept. 4.—(AP)—That Ohio outfit better come get their parking meters—that's what all the feuding is about in this east Texas town.

The city put 'em up and the county took 'em down. On May 1, the city had meters installed in Gilmer. Ninety went up around the courthouse square.

"This courthouse square," said they, "is county property. The city can't come on county property putting up parking meters."

On Labor Day road gangs, under orders from the commissioners, tore out the meters with sledgehammers and filled the holes with concrete. The meters, valued at $6,000, were heaped in the courthouse basement.

Mayor Horace V. Davis, claiming the county officials never had made any official protest about the meters, announced yesterday: "Someone is going to pay for the meters that have been battered around and perhaps hopelessly damaged."

The Karpark Corporation of Cincinnati, Ohio, installed the meters on a one year trial basis, he said. The corporation still owns the meters—it was to receive 75 per cent of the revenue until the purchase price was met.

And today the city had only one announcement.

"The next move is up to the Karpark Corporation."

Nurse Admits Story of Foiling Kidnap Attempt Is Untrue

Young Widowed Mother Had Hoped She Would Receive Reward

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Suburban Highland Park police have branded a hoax the Aug. 25 report of a 26-year-old widowed nurse that she was beaten and choked in fighting off a husky man who tried to kidnap a baby in her care.

Mrs. Elsie Margaret Gerald made up the story, Police Chief Rex R. Andrews announced yesterday, in the expectation that she would be rewarded by the baby's parents.

"If someone had saved my baby from kidnapping, I would have given a reward of $200," Andrews quoted nurse as saying.

Early Aug. 25, police answered a faintly audible telephone call from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Moses in the north shore suburb.

They found Mrs. Gerald semi-conscious and bruised on a bedroom floor, the brassiere top of her two-piece play suit knotted around her neck.

The police found the baby unharmed in a downstairs chair and quoted Mrs. Gerald as saying that she found the baby missing from her nursery, that a husky man grabbed her, hit her and tied the brassiere top about her neck.

Given Lie Detector Test
Andrews said that he had questioned parts of her story at the time and decided yesterday to subject the woman to a lie detector test. She had been under hospital treatment since Aug. 25.

The chief said the nurse had had a hard time making ends meet since the death of her husband a year ago. She is the mother of two small children.

He added that no charge would be placed against her. She was released after telling her story.

The "Moses" were en route home from Charlevoix, Mich., with another daughter at the time of the incident. Mrs. Gerald had been hired to take care of their three-month-old daughter, Laurie Ann.

Moses, an advertising executive, had no comment to make.

Andrews said the nurse recounted the following story during yesterday's questioning:

Nurse Tells Story
She went downstairs to the dining room about 11:30 p. m. opened the screens, went out the front door and re-entered by a dining room window, strewn leaves and grass on the floor. She placed the baby in the chair, returned upstairs and scratched her back with a coat hanger and pulled the bandana around her neck.

Entering the bedroom, she accidentally bumped into the end table holding the phone, knocking the phone over and bruising her

Sees Hungry Facing 'Huge Catastrophe'

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(AP)—John F. Krey, chairman of the American Meat Institute, said today "the next 15 to 20 days can bring double disaster" if an early frost strikes the corn belt where the late planted corn crop is behind schedule.

Assessing a "major catastrophe" was striking the United States and a hungry world because of the drastic reduction in this year's corn production, Krey, in an address prepared for the annual meeting of the institute, said "damage from frost is yet to come and may be extremely heavy."

He said one-third to one-half of the crop was in danger of frost damage in 12 corn belt states if frost occurs at average dates.

Forecasting a drop in meat production this year, Krey said it would come "at a time where there is more need and demand than ever before and when farmers are getting extremely high prices for all the meat they can produce."

Meat Supplies To Drop
"Meat supplies will drop in the year ahead," he said, "leaving consumers even more meat-hungry than now. Both farmers and meat packers will be blamed more than ever for high meat prices and reduced supplies of meat in retail meat stores."

Krey said farmers should be urged to "make every bushel of corn produce the pork and beef that two bushels produced before."

He said there was a number of ways in which the corn supply could be extended or other feeding practices adopted during the corn shortage. Increased use of protein supplements, such as meat scraps and tankage, he said, along with other feeds could be used to extend the limited supply of grains.

F. W. Specht, president of Armour & Co., opined that prices of choice cuts of meat could be reduced if the public purchased more of the packing industry's low-priced end cuts.

Says US Is Forced to Retain A-Bombs

Washington, Sept. 4—(AP) — Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said over the air the United States is forced to go on making and improving atomic bombs because of Russia's refusal to accept the American plan for international control.

As a result of this stand by Russia and its "aggressive and expansionist policy on every front," McMahon declared, the people of the United States have "become unified in our determination that Russia shall not either by intrigue or by force accomplish the domination of Europe and Asia."

McMahon was one of eight speakers during a half hour coast-to-coast "radio rally" in which Democratic orators warmed up for the 1948 campaign by hammering at the record of the Republican-controlled congress on labor, price, farm and housing legislation.

On Donated Time

Democrats held meetings over the country to hear the broadcast speeches from New York, California, Minnesota, Alabama, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the national Capital. The national committee said it was the "first national meeting of a political party to be conducted over the air."

The American Broadcasting Company, which donated the time, said it has offered the Republican party a half hour over the same stations.

Other speakers last night included Marshall Hanley, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Indiana, who said the youth of the party are working hard for a victory next year, and Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, who declared voters of his state approve the policies of the Truman administration.

Lady Thinks Fairies Cause Garden Tricks

Evanston, Ill. —(AP)— Mrs. Burt T. Wheeler thinks there are fairies at the bottom of her garden.

The garden got along fine all summer until this week, when a 10-foot wide fairy ring of mushrooms sprang up overnight. When Mrs. Wheeler first noticed the ring she attempted the usual feminine, mortal means to get rid of it. She asked her husband to destroy the fungi.

Wheeler, a brick manufacturer, uprooted them. However, the next day he thought he'd gone daft. Forty-seven of the wee folk's umbrellas stood in a circle, apparently in implicit defiance of his efforts.

Mrs. Wheeler's only explanation is the possibility that she and her husband have been tracked down by English fairies because of their British ancestry.

In hopes of verifying her theory she's keeping a close watch on Pat, a neighbor dog. Pat romped in and out of the ring the other day, knocking over several of the mushrooms. Now if anything happens to Pat, especially on a moonlit night — well, it's well known the little people resent any disturbance of their dancing ground.

No one knows how long it will last, but it is evident that this country is still enjoying a half-century period of economic prosperity. For more than a year,
leading economists have been forecasting recessions and depressions,
none of which have materialized. Last June, according to Department of Commerce figures,
personal incomes in the United States hit the record annual rate of $183,000,000,000. In that same month the number of productively employed people passed the 60,000,000 mark for the first time,
and the July figure was still higher.

It is true, of course, that the purchasing power of the dollar is much lower than in previous times. Even so, wage increases have, for the most part, kept pace with price increases and in some industries have materially exceeded them. The major exceptions to the rule have been the white-collar and professional classes, whose earnings, measured by the yardstick of purchasing power, are less than during and before the war. People living on fixed incomes have taken a tremendous financial beating. It is the laboring groups which have benefited
most.

Herbert Hoover recently said
that he could not foresee any important drop in business in the near future. That point of view is widely shared at the present time, even by some of the commentators who anticipated economic upheavals this summer. This optimism as to the immediate outlook is producing increased possibilities as to the long-term outlook, on the theory that the longer
the boom lasts the more severe
will be the break when it comes.
It is a situation where the old proverbial dictum that "the bigger they are the harder they fall" applies. But this is in the realm of speculation. The business indices are still going up, and the goal of "full employment" seems to have been reached. In many important lines, output would be a great deal
larger than at present if more supplies were available.

Every consumer knows what all
this has done to prices. Here, again, those who forecast last fall
that substantial price breaks
would come by mid-1947 were badly fooled. The Bureau of Labor Statistics price index recently touched another new high, and it is expected to go higher still. That is the result of many factors — governmental fiscal policy, foreign buying in a tight market, over-
expanding business overhead,

etc. To choose the most obvious reason, higher prices are inevitable when 60,000,000 people, earning the highest pay in history,
are piling up goods and services of all kinds. There are still many people to whom price is of little consequence — as the so-called "used automobile" market abundantly proves. Throughout the country, 1947 automobiles
bring bonuses of from $400 to $1500 on the used-car lots — and dealers report that there is no
dearth of purchasers.

The loosening of the regulations
on time-payment purchases has been a factor in keeping sales of expensive articles at the peak level. When families run out of cash,
they can keep on buying on liberal installment terms. In some fields, such as radios, evidence of over-production is apparent, especially of unknown brands. But staple, advertised goods of all kinds are selling well.

Very few people believe that this is a healthy economy. Economists for industry shake their heads when they start talking about the long-time future. So do the economists for the labor unions. All of them are concerned with what might happen if we had a depression accompanied by high prices. It has never happened in this country. It has happened in many other countries. And it is definitely an unpleasant prospect.

Practically everyone is now convinced that U. S.-Soviet relations will continue to deteriorate, at least for the next year or so. The high hopes that were once widely held for real cooperation between the two powers to rehabilitate Europe and the Far East have evaporated like dew in the desert.

Informed U. S. quarters. It is also believed that this is perfectly in accord with the plans of the Soviet top command. Russia, the belief goes, is determined to circumvent any American plan for European stabilization. Reason: A hungry and hopeless Europe is a happy hunting ground for the communists.

This Soviet policy has paid off
so far. The extent of Russian gains since VE Day has been amazing.
To all intents and purposes, all of Central Europe consists largely of Soviet satellites. In countries such as Hungary, the communists completely dominate the government — even though, in the last
free election, communist candidates got less than 20 per cent of the vote. The other parties have been outlawed or made impotent.
The last-ditch dissenters have had an ominous habit of disappearing
— save for the fortunate few who have managed to escape to England, the United States and South America.

The communist group in France
is extremely aggressive, and is obviously engaged in an all-out drive for power. This is one of the worst Anglo-American headaches
at the present time.

An American pilot, flying a Chinese relief plane, had to jettison a huge cargo of Chinese money to keep from crashing into a mountain when his plane
developed engine trouble.

Who would have dreamed that anything as highly inflated as Chinese currency could be so heavy?

The diameter of the earth at the equator is 7,926 miles. Through the poles it's 7,899.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—Sponsors of the Taft-Hartley law around here now believe almost unanimously the labor unions will eventually come in under the new setup, and think it is working fairly well so far. The unions are merely going through a threshing out period
now, variously biting and fighting at the new restrictions, which have not been clarified in detail
yet. But actually the law retains for them most of the advantages of the old Wagner act, merely equalizing the rights of employers with these, so general
union antipathy is optimistically anticipated by most congressmen after or during the months of threshing legal rights.

These same sponsors privately thought the first step taken by the new NLRB General Counsel Denham was a bit strong. To start out the new regime, Denham ruled, a local or national union must file affidavits that its officers are non-communists (not revolutionists of any nature) if the union seeks any benefits under the law. The congressional insiders have heard that the national CIO ruling board cannot possibly file affidavits because half a dozen of its executive boardmen are communists. But Denham no doubt figured that if the unions could not promise
their own clearance of communism, they could not promise anything for sure, and he deliberately drove his first showdown primarily on that basis.

Denham knows quite well CIO hardly dares hold out on the issue of communism, the technical CIO position on this is weak, regardless of the popular political angle. For example, if a CIO union refuses to file, the AFL can step in and file, and raid the CIO union. AFL could seek cer-tification from the board, as the bargaining agent, and then the question would be an election to decide whether the plant should have AFL or affiliation with neither. CIO would be completely frozen out of the election.

That idea is what may be one thing behind the AFL's Office Employees International coming in first with affidavits showing themselves free of communism.
The AFL unions are in a much better position to meet this test.
At any rate Denham started off
hewing harder (rather than easing up) on that issue and ultimately ruled all leftover cases
would be dismissed unless the non-communist affidavits are forthcoming within 20 days.

The anti-communist phase is one of the two initial steps projected when the new law went into effect Aug. 22. The other requires labor organizations to file with the secretary of labor a detailed financial report. AFL unions have been announcing their finances as a matter of general practice, but CIO has not.
If CIO hangs out on this, AFL again will be in a position to raid.

Thus the showdown, has been forced first on cleanliness from communism and cleanliness of finances. The way in which the unions meet this test may largely determine the future of their own current organization. The AFL has been the severest critic of CIO on these points, both the secrecy of financial reports (including lists of actual dues-paying members) and charging that a number of CIO locals are communist dominated. Some dissident CIO members joined in these charges.

Otherwise the changes which came into effect Aug. 22 merely divide the prosecuting and judicial functions of NLRB, vesting
the prosecuting functions in the general counsel and judicial functions in the five man board.

The inauguration of the law
therefore was under more favorable auspices than adverse advertising has indicated. It falls considerably short of promising early repeal. For encouraging registrations, the government is in an excellent position. The outcome of this initial phase should be evident within a few weeks but it might take months to clarify conclusively all the legal details
or establish the policies of both unions and management in detail under the new law. In the ordinary course of events, there will probably be continuous legal wrangling from now on.

The new counsel and board (while somewhat under suspicion
on their record) appear to promise a fair administration. At least the Republican congressmen seem more or less satisfied so far, although they are very suspicious and cautiously keeping the joint labor investigating committee and Rep Hartley near at hand to watch every development.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

New York—The Taft-Hartley
law, adopted by the legislative body of the American government,
is represented by the union politicians, gangsters and communists
and their parasites as a law to enslave labor. It should not be necessary to explain that the law
is, on the contrary, an act of emancipation but, as to most citizens, it is necessary but futile.
For all our spending on public and private education, the American is, in a phrase attributed to the late Harry Hopkins, just too damned dumb. I do not recall that Hopkins ever repudiated this highly intelligent estimate. Probably he did, because all editorial
writers, all union bosses and all Roosevelts know that whoever did say this said a mouthful, but understand how sensitive the citizen
is, and therefore flatter him outrageously all the time.

Roosevelt long ago organized and subsidized, both politically and financially, the party auxiliaries
whose powers would be impaired
by honest enforcement of the new law. It may be noted here that the Truman government will not enforce it honestly nor with any other purpose nor in any other manner except to discredit it.
Having said that it couldn't be enforced, both during the debates
and in the veto, Truman's party would discredit themselves by proving that it can work.

This being the case, we may look for a general duplication of the career of the 18th amendment and the Volstead Act. By inciting and directing rebellion probably at some sacrifice of life, the Truman faction and the unions
would prepare for a time when they should say to the people
that this evil act only caused crime and disrespect for all law
and, therefore, must be repealed.
The mortality in riots would not embarrass the feelings of any well-trained politician. People are born to die and we spent a certain number of lives teaching heyseeds
not to blow out the gas, poisoning
alcohol in government laboratories during prohibition and organizing the C. I. O. in the thirties.
It is the wear and tear of progress and experience on the human race.

That such an old windbag as William Green, the president of the A. F. of L., could continue to do business as one of our two chief "leaders" of labor, calling on the oppressed people and God,
himself to undo this awful thing
is proof that Hopkins was right.
There is no need on this day to review Green's conduct in a long

lat of cases involving the rights of the dumb, stupid citizen in conflict with the powers and privileges of the political unionists.
Invariably the citizen has been licked, often with the penalty of ostracism and joblessness, and the gangster colleagues of Mr. Green have been vindicated and rewarded. All the favors from the government have been directed to the union bosses and their power
over the individual have been made stronger. Today, even under the new law, he has no guarantee that the union will be compelled to respect the human rights which the best minds of the republic wrote into the Constitution.
Unions are the only authority or organization in the entire country
which have the powers over the involuntary member that are not possessed by the government, itself.

He may quit his church or fraternity or the volunteer fire department. He never has to join in the first place. But during the time of Roosevelt his right not to join and his right to quit a union
were destroyed by fire, gas, gunshot and the tire-iron and chain.
But so many of the present crop
of citizens were prattling children
then, growing up to be the babbling adults of today, that few have the intelligence to know that something important was taken away from them by force and intimidation.

While so many of the present
generation of voters were at war,
many of them wasting important
years learning at Wacs and grading
golf-courses for Washington
lawyers and New Deal columnists
of the rank of major or better in
quaint far places of the world,
Roosevelt was forging more fetters
at home in collusion with the Greens and Phil Murrays and the John L. Lewises. A fetter is a poetic handcuff. Roosevelt found his political auxiliaries unwilling to manufacture guns, jeeps and a great many items of modish junk
unless they were promised inflationary wages by which to command the dumb gratitude of their subjects.

So he gave them absolute control of the millions of American citizens engaged in those lackadaisical pursuits generally known as "he wah effawt" in which any man who did one hour's work in less than half a day was subject to expulsion as a traitor to the working class and a fascist undermining the bright new world for which "our brave boys" were picking up cigarette butts in Alabama and many young ladies were sacrificing their sense of propriety if nothing more precious,

"everywhah in the world." He inflated wages to millions of bums
in factories and shipyards thus providing millions in dues and fees
for the boss-bums and he established the principle that work done or time wasted by loafing
after 5 p. m. or on Saturdays, Sundays or legal holidays, was half again or twice as precious.

The most naive and yet the most convincing item of the idiots' argued by which the Greens, Murrays, and Lewises and of course Truman and all his party, are including the bome resentment of the dumb American whom Hopkins knew so well, is the proposition that the Taft-Hartley law is bad because the National Association of Manufacturers wanted it or even wrote it. In the first place, the N.A.M. was not unanimous and the more cynical and mighty members were well content to let matters go along as they were going under the Wagner Act. If they have to pay a half-cent $23 a day to lay 200 brick or click an electric button in a factory, and premium rates for overtime, that is all right with them.
It was all right with them throughout the war. All they do is scale their prices accordingly and this means only that the dollar buys
less and that the dull, dumb disciple of Harry Hopkins has to pay just so much more for steaks
and new cars or, more likely, do without steaks or new cars. The N.A.M. didn't need this new law.
The Wagner Act was fascism and inflation and the N.A.M. and the big boss unionists were ideological and political brothers. The big

generation of voters were at war,
many of them wasting important
years learning at Wacs and grading
golf-courses for Washington
lawyers and New Deal columnists
of the rank of major or better in
quaint far places of the world,
Roosevelt was forging more fetters
at home in collusion with the

Julia L. Moulton Marries Frederick E. Fess

Couple Exchange Vows in Church in Franklin Grove

White gladiolus, candles and ferns formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Julia L. Moulton, daughter of Guy E. Moulton of Franklin Grove, and Frederick E. Fess, son of Mrs. Henry Fess of Northbrook, which took place Aug. 30 at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the Franklin Grove Presbyterian church. The Rev. Carl Montanus officiated.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Luther Durkee, organist, played a group of nuptial selections and during the service played the "Lord's Prayer." Mrs. John Mills of Chicago was soloist and sang "At Dawning" and "God Touched a Rose."

Marquessette Gown
Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of embossed marquessette designed with a basque bodice, high neckline with off-the-shoulder border design, puffed sleeves and bustle back which extended into a train. Her veil was triple-tiered illusion and was held in place by a Mary Queen of Scots bonnet made of illusion and trimmed with forget-me-nots. In her bouquet were white gladiolus and stephanotis.

Miss Jean Clark of Evansville, Ind., was maid of honor. Her gown was of pale yellow marquessette and she carried a mixed colonial bouquet and wore a headband of matching flowers.

Bridesmaid in Blue
Blue gowns were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Clark Wasson of Franklin Grove and Mrs. Virgil Wasson of Dixon. The former was cornflower blue marquessette and Mrs. Wasson was attired in pale blue marquessette. Like the maid of honor they carried mixed colonial bouquet and wore headbands of the same flowers.

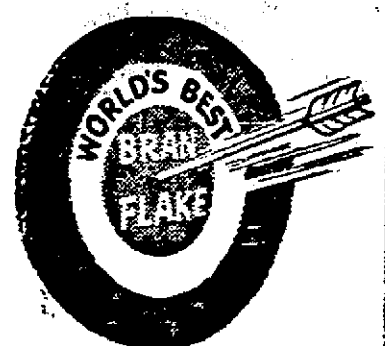

Orville Fess of Deerfield, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Ralph Ritter of Wilmette and Clark Wasson of Franklin Grove ushered.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Fess selected a grey crepe dress and a corsage of rubrum lilies.

Reception at Church
Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors which were decorated with baskets of garden flowers. A four-tiered wedding cake and yellow flowers and candles decorated the table. Mrs. Louis Faulkner cut the cake and Mrs. O. Fess served the punch. Miss Marcia Vockey had charge of the guest book and Mrs. Gerald Emmert was in charge of the gifts.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the Ozarks, upon return from which they will reside on Shermer road in Northbrook. For traveling Mrs. Fess chose a black

FIRST LESSON FOR ALL FIRST GRADERS IS ONE ON SAFETY

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 4 — There is one thing that fresh, new first graders need to learn as they start off to school this fall, and that is how to get there and back home again in safety.

This is one lesson that parents cannot afford to leave to teachers, according to Miss Gladys Ward, home management specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. From the very first day of school, children need to know the pedestrian rules which will keep them out of harm in their new venture.

They are quite grown up enough to be taught to cross streets only at intersections and only with the green light. When it is necessary for them to walk along roads where there are no sidewalks, they should be taught to face the oncoming traffic and to walk in single file.

It's a great temptation to play along the way home, especially when one has just entered into a new world of friendships and playmates. But these youngsters need to understand that play is only for the school yard, the park or the home.

Safety becomes a habit when it is properly taught — a simple habit, but one that may save much grief and suffering. No child should be started on his way to a blue gabardine suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride was graduated from DeKalb Township high school and has completed one year as a speech major at Northern Illinois State Teachers college, where she is a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon, national honor society. Mr. Landau was graduated from Rochelle high school and Rockford Business college and will enter NISTC this fall. A veteran of two years service with the USN, he has been employed by the Roper company in Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Landau will live in DeKalb and attend school.

New KSB Students Are Party Guests

Members of the new class of the Katherine Shaw Bethea School of Nursing were guests of honor at a social hour planned for them by their "big sisters" and upperclassmen. Faculty members were invited to the affair which was held following the girls' official admittance to the school.

Games were played and refreshments served.

Three films were obtained and were shown to the new students as part of their orientation program. The film were "Foot Steps," a sound film demonstrating Red Cross nursing service; "Nursing—a Career of Service," which shows the scope of nursing and the varied fields a nurse may enter, and "R. N.—Serving Mankind," prepared by the College of Surgeons as part of a recruitment program for student nurses. This latter film depicts two girls, who are friends, entering a School of Nursing and their experiences during their three-year period as student nurses.

Dixonite Writes of Scenes, People on Her Trip to Hawaii

Telegraph Publisher on Tour of Alaska and Hawaiian Islands

Mabel S. Shaw, publisher of the Evening Telegraph, who has been on an extended trip to the Hawaiian Islands by air and to Alaska by boat has written her family in Dixon some interesting letters, descriptive of the places she has visited and some of them will be published in these columns, letter No. 5 follows:

July 16th. On the plane returning from "Barking Sands" to Honolulu. It took us from 10 p. m. to 7 a. m. to come over by boat. We are only 50 minutes in the air returning. We are flying over the Pacific. The sun is shining, the sky and clouds are beautiful. My ears are cracking, but I do not mind that in the least. The air is refreshing.

I would say about 25 people are in the plane, which is most comfortable. The attractive Hawaiian hostess has just passed the gum around and all are chewing. This has been a full day. Up at 7:30, we've been on the move.

As I motored along, using my small purse for a writing pad, I tried to tell you some of the things I saw. Our last treat, and most fitting to a perfect ending of a wonderful day, was our view of Waimea Canyon, the greatest scenic attraction of this (Kauai) island.

Not as large, of course, as the Grand Canyon, but much more beautiful to me on account of the many colors. The mountains have an abundance of vegetation.

There is considerable spare land also, which is the color of Alabama clay, next one will be a light green, then a dark green vegetation and with the bright sun shining on these fantastic mountains and way down into the canyon where ends silvery streams it was really something to remember forever.

Jack London made this part of the island famous by his stories "House of Pride". We are getting within sight of land — flashed the light to tighten our safety belts. I'll soon be mailing this in Honolulu.

GAMES TONIGHT
Three Deuces vs. Lakeshire-Marty.

Reynolds Wire moved a step nearer to the airport softball league flag last night with a 15-4 rout of Fazzi's. However, their most persistent rival—Nig Knigge's Lindquist aggregation—kept pace by whipping the unpredictable Barrick Steers, 9-6.

The Wiremen managed to collect only eight hits off George Myers' delivery but Myers was wild, passing 10 men, and his mates were charged with eight errors.

A big seventh inning of seven runs doomed Fazzi's to their tenth defeat in 13 starts. Mgr. Lyle Fordham, the winning chucker, hit a home run in this stanza to match a previous circuit drive by John Walters of Fazzi's.

Fordham worked the first six frames, giving way to Southpaw George Weigle in the final inning.

Fourth Inning Blues
Although Mgr. "Corky" Keenan twirled five hitless rounds in the nightcap, a horrendous fourth inning proved his downfall. Lindquist slugged six hits as 12 men batted, the blows adding up to eight runs with the aid of two miscues and a couple of walks.

The Steers kept chipping away at Lindquist's big lead, eventually outtrotting 'em 7-6 out Herbie Littrell bore down in the pinches to rack up his clubs ninth triumph in 13 outings.

Hit star of the night was Outfielder Joe Richards of Fazzi's with three for three.

Tomorrow night's card reads Lindquist vs. Lakeshire-Marty and Fazzi's vs. Freeman's.

Yanks Disposing of Series Ducats

New York, Sept. 4 —(AP)—The New York Yankees, 12½ games out front in the American league pennant race with 22 games to play, have started accepting applications for 1947 World Series tickets and the Brooklyn Dodgers have informed the world that all Dodger series games, if any, will be played at Ebbets field.

Shortly after the Yanks swept two games at Boston yesterday, the front office announced it would accept applications on the basis of four-game sets. Tickets will be sold for the first, second, sixth and seventh games with refunds in case the series does not go to a sixth or seventh game.

Checks or money orders of sets ordered plus 35 cents for registry and postage, must be enclosed with applications which should be addressed to Ticket Manager, Yankee Stadium, the Bronx, 51, N. Y., checks or money orders drawn for more or less than the correct amount will be returned, and all applications postmarked before Sept. 4 will be returned.

Box Seats $8
The prices as set by Commissioner A. B. Chandler are bleachers $1.00, general admission $4.00, reserved seats $6.00 and box seats $8.00. All prices include tax.

No definite date has been set for the series, pending a special meeting to be called by Commissioner Chandler.

While the Yankees are outlining their ticket sale plans, the Dodgers were announcing through President Branch Rickey that there is no chance of an all-Yankee Stadium series.

It had been suggested, unofficially, that all games be played in the Stadium which can accommodate some 40,000 more fans than Ebbets field.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

1912 Season Brings Back Fond Memories

BY BOB FALLSTROM

"A baseball team composed entirely of Dixon young men under the management of Ned Whitebread and the captaincy of Charles Burke was organized in 1912," typed "Mike" Monahan in his comprehensive scrapbook of early Dixon history.

"We began the season with new uniforms purchased from Valle & O'Malley at $7 each.

"During the winter the boys held a bazaar and made considerable money. The boys' ages ranged from 17 to 21.

"Our first game was scheduled for April 28 but we had cold weather that Sunday so cancelled it for the Sunday following. On May 5 we had previously arranged a game with Freeport but cancelled it and brought Sterling up.

"We opened at Athletic park with a good attendance and 70 boys played great ball together. Won the first game, 10-8."

Monahan went on that year to compile a neat and fact-giving record table of the entire season.

"Out of 23 games played the Stars won 17 victories. They beat such clubs as Sterling, Freeport, Franklin Grove, Morrison, Rock Falls, West Brooklyn, Mt. Morris, Polo, Rockford and Foreston bowing only to Franklin, Morrison, Monroe, Rockford and Sterling.

Carpenter "Carp" Huber did most of the pitching with Joe Keenan serving as his battery-mate.

A tragic happening that year was the watery death of Outfielder-Infielder Warren Lally, who drowned in Rock river June 7 after attempting to rescue some girls.

On June 16 the Stars journeyed to Freeport, making the long and hazardous trip by auto. Monahan wrote after the game: "We stopped at Polo going up and made the trip in two hours and five minutes. Came home in one hour and 30 minutes. Went 40 miles an hour at one place." Forty miles per hour is just an ordinary speed nowadays but in 1912 it was the last word in transportation!

FM Heads Radio Industry Revolution After Long Delays

Frequency Modulation is Making Bigger Strides Than Television

By MAX HALL
Washington—(AP)—A revolution is going on in the radio industry. Radio, after years of crawling delays, is moving fast into the FM era.

FM means frequency modulation. It's a new kind of broadcasting, invented by Edwin Armstrong, a Columbia professor.

The Federal Communication Commission says FM is better than standard broadcasting because:

- (1) It has virtually no static, even during a thunderstorm;
- (2) It reproduces music more faithfully because it has a full range of tones;
- (3) It will permit a much greater number of stations, thus giving the listener a wider choice and thereby bring about an improvement in programs.

Switching To FM Is On
FM requires a different kind of sending station and a different kind of receiving set—or at least a new attachment to old sets.

The war arrested FM in its infancy. After the war, radio makers concentrated on standard sets, pouring out millions upon millions of them. FM had to wait.

But now there are plenty of standard sets—too many in some stores. So the big swing toward FM has begun.

The Radio Manufacturers' association says close to 1,000,000 FM sets already are in use, and maybe 1,500,000 or more will be produced in the next four months. Most of these sets are combinations—both FM and standard.

As for sending stations, there were only 52 in operation when the war ended. But the Federal Communications Commission says there are 269 commercial FM stations in operation today and about 700 more have been authorized.

Television Behind FM
But FM won't replace standard broadcasting overnight. For years, the two systems will run along side by side.

Standard broadcasting is still expanding. There were 936 standard stations when the war ended. There are 1,354 now, with 500 more under construction.

Television is coming along, too.

But its development is behind that of FM.

The general opinion in the industry is that FM ultimately will gain dominance over standard radio.

FM is short-range. It covers communities and metropolitan areas, but not whole states and regions.

Battle With Petrillo
The higher the antenna, the bigger coverage. New radio spires are rising all around the nation's cities.

The highest of all—1,520 feet—is planned by the Cowles interests, for FM and television near Des Moines, Iowa. This will be the tallest structure ever built by mankind (the Empire State building is 1,248 feet).

These FM stations carry some of the regular network programs—without music.

James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, has forbidden the networks to duplicate their music on FM simultaneously, unless they pay extra for the privilege.

The FM association has urged the networks to go ahead and duplicate, on the ground that if Petrillo tries to prevent it, he would be in violation of the Lea "Anti-Petrillo" act and the Taft-Hartley labor act.

But the question stands unsettled. Meantime a strictly FM network, the Continental, has come into existence and is growing.

Appeal Pinckneyville Swindling Court Term

St. Paul, Sept. 4—(AP)—An appeal seeking reversal of the conviction of two Arkansas men charged with swindling Jack Tullo, Pinckneyville, Ill., tavern keeper out of $9,200 was heard in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here this week.

Clinnie Joe Buchanan, Jonesboro, Ark., and Ira Coleman Roberts, Leachville, Ark., now at liberty on $25,000 bond each pending appeal, were sentenced to terms of five years and fined $5,000 at Jonesboro.

The appeals court took the case under advisement after arguments that the trial court was without jurisdiction and that there was no evidence of any overt acts in furtherance of an alleged conspiracy. The court's decision will be handed down in St. Louis, Mo.

Pretty Money, Eh? Is There Any Other Kind in Use: Edson

Treasury Has Been Gay
In Past Years,
Writer Says

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For the Telegraph)

Washington (AP)—Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.) sees red every time she sees green folding money.

She sees red because she thinks the U. S. treasury isn't showing enough imagination.

Why not be like the postage people, Mrs. Rogers has asked Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, and have a different color for each denomination?

Under the Rogers plan, the $1 bill could be, say, chartreuse. And the $5 bill could be fuchsia. And so on and on, beautifully.

This would brighten up the interiors of dingy pocketbooks, and also keep you from getting your $1 and $1,000 bills all mixed up.

They've Been Gay Before
Snyder replied, cautiously, that he has heard no great clamor for rainbow-hued money. And there the matter probably will rest until congress comes back, whereupon the persistent Mrs. Rogers will introduce a bill calling for pretty money.

Carefully putting glue on my fingers, in case I should happen to lean on some samples I went over to the Treasury to check up on moneys.

And I found there's no reason for Snyder to act so demure. In its time the Treasury has come up with some gay stuff.

Why, once it even put out—you'll forgive the expression—a nude.

Where Were Her Clothes.
This gal was supposed to be freedom instructing youth, and the bill no sooner got into circulation than horrendous cry went up.

Some people figured that if her business was teaching, she must be teaching monkey business. Why didn't she wear clothes like respectable teachers?

The treasury didn't bother to clothe the lady. Next bill-issuing time, it issued another bill, and tipped softly away.

Like to have your picture on paper money? Your best chance is to (a) die, or (b) become president. In that order.

There are 12 different people, none living, portrayed on our money. All but three—Hamilton, Franklin and Chase—were presidents.

It's All Beautiful
Washington is on all $1 bills, Jefferson is on all $20s, Lincoln is on all $5s and Hamilton on all $10s.

In case you hadn't noticed lately, that's Wilson on the $100's. Not one picture but two. Lincoln and Grant shared one bill, and so did Martha and George Washington.

Although Snyder didn't seem too interested in Mrs. Rogers' plan, the Treasury used a similar scheme in its invasion money.

Invading Italy, for instance, troops carried orange, olive, gray, purple, yellow, green, red, blue and brown money.

I don't care whether it's new or old, clean or dirty, blue or beige. As long as it's money, I think it's beautiful.

Safe Driving Made Subject of Manual by Safety Council

Group Points Out That
Most Drivers Fail to
Stay in Right Lane

The National Safety council, in a manual on safe driving rules, a part of the campaign to reduce the steadily mounting total of vehicular traffic fatalities in a record year for highway travel, warns all drivers to observe a common rule which most motorists fail to follow: Stay in the proper lane.

That warning is directed at one of the most dangerous practices of motorists today, the Council declares. It hits at the lane jumper, the lane straddler and the driver who persistently disregards the outer lane of a four lane highway and blocks the way of drivers wanting to pass.

"Drive in the proper lane," the bulletin warns. "You must not drive on the left half of a two lane road unless it is necessary for overtaking or turning left. On all roads, ordinarily drive in the right hand traffic lane. When wide roadways are marked off into lanes, stay in one lane. Do not move from one lane to another without making sure you can do so safely."

Common Malpractice
Another common malpractice outlined for the nation's drivers:

When approaching an intersection, yield the right of way to any car in the intersection first, and if another car arrives at the crossing at the same time, you must yield the right of way if the other car is on your right.

Another point of importance is that pedestrians have the right of way when they are in crosswalks at intersections even though the crosswalks may not be marked; a point especially important in turning.

The Council also points out that if you are entering or crossing a stop street, you must bring your car to a full stop at the stop sign or marked line. You must also yield the right of way to any car on the cross-street which is in the intersection or so close as to be dangerous if you entered in front of it.

After that, usual right of way rules are in effect.

If another car has stopped at a stop sign, and has been waiting to enter a thru street, and has yielded the right of way to cars which are approaching, and then enters the intersection, you must yield the right of way to him even though you are approaching the intersection on the thru street.

Gary Students Strike In Race Disturbance

Gary, Ind., Sept. 4—(AP)—Nine hundred white pupils of Emerson school who stayed away from classes yesterday in protest against a new ruling which permits Negro pupils to attend any of Gary's six schools.

Superintendent Charles D. Lutz said all pupils not in class by noon today would be charged with truancy. He said all more than 15 years of age would be suspended and all athletes would be ruled ineligible for the year.

Lutz said that more than half of the school's 1,750 pupils were absent yesterday. He said 200 pupils had refused to register Tuesday, the first day of school.

The school board had ruled that effective with the new term Negro pupils might attend any of Gary's six schools.

Froebel high school was the scene of two similar student strikes during the 1945-46 term. At that time Froebel was the only school attended by both white and Negro students.

Mason Backs Taft as Outstanding Republican

Washington, Sept. 4—(AP)—Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill.) said in a statement yesterday, that Senator Robert Taft's (R-Ohio) work in the recent session of congress "makes him the most outstanding Republican for the presidential nomination next year."

In his statement, Mason said:

"Taft's work in the 80th congress, the masterful way in which he guided both the tax reduction bills and omnibus labor bill through the congress, places him right in the middle of the Republican presidential picture for next year and makes him the most outstanding Republican candidate. In my opinion the issue next year should be 'Taft and our American enterprise system versus Truman and New Deal socialism'."

FM Heads Radio Industry Revolution After Long Delays

Frequency Modulation is Making Bigger Strides Than Television

By MAX HALL
Washington—(AP)—A revolution is going on in the radio industry.

Radio, after years of crawling delays, is moving fast into the FM era.

FM means frequency modulation. It's a new kind of broadcasting, invented by Edwin Armstrong, a Columbia professor.

The Federal Communications Commission says FM is better than standard broadcasting because:

(1) It has virtually no static, even during a thunderstorm;
(2) It reproduces music more faithfully because it has a full range of tones;
(3) It will permit a much greater number of stations, thus giving the listener a wider choice and thereby bring about an improvement in programs.

Swing To FM Is On
FM requires a different kind of sending station and a different kind of receiving set—or at least a new attachment to old sets.

The war arrested FM in its infancy. After the war, radio makers concentrated on standard sets, pouring out millions upon millions of them. FM had to wait.

But now there are plenty of standard sets—too many in some stores. So the big swing toward FM has begun.

The Radio Manufacturers association says close to 1,000,000 FM sets already are in use, and maybe 1,500,000 or more will be produced in the next four months. Most of these sets are combinations—both FM and standard.

As for sending stations, there were only 52 in operation when the war ended. But the Federal Communications Commission says there are 269 commercial FM stations in operation today and about 700 more have been authorized.

Television Behind FM
But FM won't replace standard broadcasting overnight. For years, the two systems will run along side by side.

Standard broadcasting is still expanding. There were 936 standard stations when the war ended. There are 1,354 now, with 500 more under construction.

Television is coming along, too.

But its development is behind that of FM.

The general opinion in the industry is that FM ultimately will gain dominance over standard radio.

FM is short-range. It covers communities and metropolitan areas, but not whole states and regions.

Battle With Petrillo
The higher the antenna, the bigger coverage. New radio spires are rising all around the nation's cities.

The highest of all—1,520 feet—is planned by the Cowles interests, for FM and television near Des Moines, Iowa. This will be the tallest structure ever built by man (the Empire State building is 1,248 feet).

These FM stations carry some of the regular network programs—without music.

James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, has forbidden the networks to duplicate their music on FM simultaneously, unless they pay extra for the privilege.

The FM association has urged the networks to go ahead and duplicate, on the ground that if Petrillo tries to prevent it, he would be in violation of the Lea "Anti-Petrillo" act and the Taft-Hartley labor act.

But the question stands unsettled. Meantime a strictly FM network, the Continental, has come into existence and is growing.

Appeal Pinckneyville Swindling Count Term

St. Paul, Sept. 4—(AP)—An appeal seeking reversal of the conviction of two Arkansas men charged with swindling Jack Tallo, Pinckneyville, Ill., tavern keeper out of $9,200 was heard in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here this week.

Clinnie Joe Buchanan, Jonesboro, Ark., and Ira Coleman Roberts, Leachville, Ark., now at liberty on $25,000 bond each pending appeal, were sentenced to terms of five years and fined $5,000 at Jonesboro.

The appeals court took the case under advisement after arguments that the trial court was without jurisdiction and that there was no evidence of any overt acts in furtherance of an alleged conspiracy. The court's decision will be handed down in St. Louis, Mo.

Pretty Money, Eh? Is There Any Other Kind in Use: Edson

Treasury Has Been Gay
In Past Years,
Writer Says

By ARTHUR EDSON
(For Al Boyle)

Washington (AP)—Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.) sees red every time she sees green folding money.

She sees red because she thinks the U. S. treasury isn't showing enough imagination.

Why not be like the postage people, Mrs. Rogers has asked Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, and have a different color for each denomination?

Under the Rogers plan, the $1 bill could be, say, chartreuse. And the $5 bill could be fuchsia. And so on and on, beautifully.

This would brighten up the interiors of dingy porkchops, and also keep you from getting your $1 and $1,000 bills all mixed up.

They've Been Gay Before
Snyder replied, cautiously, that he has heard no great clamor for rainbow-hued money. And there the matter probably will rest until congress comes back, whereupon the persistent Mrs. Rogers will introduce a bill calling for pretty money.

Carefully putting glue on my fingers, in case I should happen to lean on some samples I went over to the Treasury to check up on moneys.

And I found there's no reason for Snyder to act so demure. In its time the Treasury has come up with some gay stuff.

Why, once it even put out — you'll forgive the expression — a nude.

Where Were Her Clothes
This gal was supposed to be freedom instructing youth, and the bill no sooner got into circulation than horrendous cry went up.

Some people figured that if her business was teaching, she must be teaching monkey business. Why didn't she wear clothes like respectable teachers?

The treasury didn't bother to clothe the lady. Next bill-issuing time, it issued another bill, and it looked softly away.

Like to have your picture on paper money? Your best chance is to (a) die, or (b) become president. In that order.

There are 12 different people, none living, portrayed on our money. All but, three — Hamilton, Franklin and Chase — were presidents.

It's All Beautiful
Washington is on all $1 bills, Jefferson is on all $25s, Lincoln is on all $5s and Hamilton on all $10s.

In case you hadn't noticed lately, that's Wilson on the $100's. Not one picture but two. Lincoln and Grant shared one bill, and so did Martha and George Washington.

Although Snyder didn't seem too interested in Mrs. Rogers' plan, the Treasury used a similar scheme in its invasion money.

Invading Italy, for instance, troops carried orange, olive, gray, purple, yellow, green, red, blue and brown money.

I don't care whether it's new or old, clean or dirty, blue or beige. As long as it's money, I think it's beautiful.

Sterling Singer to Give Concert Here

A graduate of Sterling Township high school last year, she is known as the "Famous Songbird of the Middle West".

Last year she competed in a Rochelle contest, where she won first place, and in the Rock River contest at Sterling, where she was awarded second place. This year she again won first place in the district contest at Freeport and second place in the state contest at Canton, Ill. In addition she has received other honors.

Miss Pennington, who plans to enter Wilberforce university Sept. 12 to continue her musical studies, is also an accomplished pianist, and has given musicals in various churches, clubs and meetings in this state and Iowa.

Her accompanist Friday night will be Mrs. J. E. Gayler.

Safe Driving Made Subject of Manual by Safety Council

Group Points Out That
Most Drivers Fail to
Stay in Right Lane

The National Safety council, in a manual on safe driving rules, a part of the campaign to reduce the steadily mounting total of vehicular traffic fatalities in a record year for highway travel, warns all drivers to observe a common rule which most motorists fail to follow: Stay in the proper lane.

That warning is directed at one of the most dangerous practices of motorists today, the Council declares. It hits at the lane jumper, the lane straddler and the driver who persistently disregards the outer lane of a four lane highway and blocks the way of drivers wanting to pass.

"Drive in the proper lane," the bulletin warns. "You must not drive on the left half of a two lane road unless it is necessary for overtaking or turning left. On all roads, ordinarily drive in the right hand traffic lane. When wide roadways are marked off into lanes, stay in one lane. Do not move from one lane to another without making sure you can do so safely."

Common Malpractice

Another common malpractice outlined for the nation's drivers: When approaching an intersection, yield the right of way to any car in the intersection first, and if another car arrives at the crossing at the same time, you must yield the right of way if the other car is on your right.

Another point of importance is that pedestrians have the right of way when they are in crosswalks at intersections even though the crosswalks may not be marked, a point especially important in turning.

The Council also points out that if you are entering or crossing a stop street you must bring your car to a full stop at the stop sign or marked line. You must also yield the right of way to any car on the cross-street which is in the intersection or so close as to be dangerous if you entered in front of it.

After that, usual right of way rules are in effect.

If another car has stopped at a stop sign, and has been waiting to enter a thru street, and has yielded the right of way to cars which are approaching, and then enters the intersection; you must yield the right of way to him even though you are approaching the intersection on the thru street.

Only Part of Gold Owned by America Kept at Fort Knox

Briton's Suggestion That U. S. Redistribute It Recalls Purchases

(Picture on Page 1)
By MAX HALL
(For James Marlow)

Washington, Sept. 4 —(AP)—The world's biggest pile of gold is back in the news.

It happened when Ernest Bevin, the British foreign secretary, suddenly proposed that the United States "redistribute" the Fort Knox gold.

Bevin's speech at Southport, England, started a first-class mystery — the mystery of what Bevin meant, how the plan would work, and what good it would do.

Another Associated Press reporter and I spent hours talking with treasury officials and private economists, and not a one of them professed to understand exactly what Bevin had in mind.

The speech also revived people's curiosity concerning the monstrous hoard of yellow bars, twelve thousand tons of them in Kentucky.

Let's pay a little visit to Fort Knox, 30 miles southwest of Louisville.

First we find that only part of America's gold is there.

The governments of the world now have a grand total of about $38,000,000,000 in monetary gold — that is, gold used to back up paper money. About $21,800,000,000 of this is owned by the U. S. government.

In Two-Story Building

And about $12,500,000,000 of that is stacked in a heavily-guarded two-story building in a field at Fort Knox.

The gold is in bricks which, although they are only about six inches long, weigh about 27½ pounds each. There are roughly 892,000 of these bricks, stacked without so much as a wrapper around them.

The bricks are in a great vault two stories high, one level in the basement and the other on the ground floor. The vault door weighs more than 40,000 pounds. No one man knows the full combination.

The building was put up in 1936 because the government was getting so much gold that it needed a place to store it.

Today the U. S. gold that isn't at Fort Knox is in various cities, in buildings owned by the bureau of the mint. For example $5,700,000,000 is at Denver, $2,900,000,000 is at New York, and $417,000,000 is at San Francisco.

Part of Money System

Presumably Bevin meant this gold, too. He said "the Fort Knox gold." And he said it "doing nothing."

What is our gold doing, anyhow? What good is it?

Treasury officials say it is part of our money system.

It gives the people confidence, simply by being there. It backs up the currency — though this doesn't mean you can take a dollar bill to the government and get gold for it.

It also shows the rest of the world that if this country should import more goods than we ship to other countries, we have the gold to pay the difference. Gold is accepted as money everywhere. How did the government get all this gold?

It bought it — some from American mining companies but most of it from other countries. These countries sold their gold for American dollars. Then they used the dollars to buy American goods.

If American gold were "redistributed," it might be given back to foreign governments, so that they could swap it for more dollars, and buy more U. S. goods.

But economists here say that the gold would only find its way back to Fort Knox, and we could

Alleged Killer Is Pointed Out by 3

Vandalia, Ill., Sept. 4 —(AP)—Three witnesses at the murder trial of Aniel R. Barker yesterday identified the 40-year-old former convict as the man who shot and killed Harry Mays, 33, Vandalia oilfield worker, in a tavern altercation at nearby Shobonier two years ago.

Lawrence Nawl and Joseph Ward, Fayette county sheriff's deputies, told the jury they were in the tavern when the shooting occurred and that Barker fired through the door, killing Mays and wounding another tavern patron, Allen Wirham.

A. C. Pointer, another patron, also identified Barker as the man who did the shooting and told the jury he had engaged in a controversy with Barker and his companion, Paul Pinski.

Convict To Testify

Pinski, who is scheduled to testify at the trial, is serving a five-year sentence for assault with intent to kill in connection with the affray.

The prosecution in its opening statement said it would attempt to prove that Barker and Pinski engaged in an argument with Pointer and that Barker later obtained two guns from a parked car and fired into the tavern, killing Mays and wounding Wirham.

Barker was apprehended by the Federal Bureau of Investigation last June 27 as he sat in the midst of a small arsenal in a car parked on a busy Chicago street.

Counsel for Barker was given permission by Circuit Judge Ward P. Holt to withhold presentation of its defense plans to the jury of eight men and four women until the state presents its evidence.

Speedier Conquest of Cancer Seen as Result of Tracers

United States Plans to Share Atoms With Foreign Scientists

St. Louis, Sept. 4 —(AP)—The United States today started a new program of sharing some "tracer" atoms from atomic ovens with foreign countries—a move hailed by scientists as promising quicker conquests over cancer and other diseases.

There were also immediate suggestions that the action might serve as a trail-blazer to smooth achievement of international control over the atom bomb and atomic control.

President Truman announced the decision in a message last night to scientists of 44 nations at the fourth International Cancer Research Congress. He asserted it would "help reduce loss of life and human suffering from diseases throughout the world."

None of the 20 radioactive elements offered for sale to foreign countries can be applied to developing atomic energy for military or industrial uses, the Atomic Energy Commission said. Sales will not include either plutonium or uranium, or give the slightest clues to any atom bomb secrets. Supplies at the outset will be limited.

Must Report Findings

Foreign users will be required to report for the benefit of everyone their findings on the tracer researches, to make progress reports semi-annually to the AEC, and to open their laboratories to qualified visiting scientists of any nationality. Foreign governments must see to it that the tracers are used only for the requested purposes.

Truman expressed hope that "the open, impartial and truly international character of medical research will carry over into the realm of other problems of world concern."

At Oak Ridge, Tenn., the AEC said it would begin as soon as possible to fulfill several foreign requests for the radioisotopes.

It announced that Russia was among 24 other countries which had inquired about the tracer atoms but that these nations had not filed specific requests so far.

The AEC said production of the tracers at the Clinton laboratories in Oak Ridge had reached a point to make possible "a modest program of foreign distribution." The ones offered for sale were termed the most important for medical and biological research. Dr. Austin H. Bruus, director of the biology division of the Argonne National Laboratory for atomic research at Chicago, said the use of isotopes in cancer research will "break the stalemate in many a difficult problem. This announcement gives us assurance that the solution of cancer research and treatment is brought much closer."

Four Vets in Nurse's Training in Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 4 —(AP)—Four men, Army medical corps veterans, are enrolled in the Mt. Sinai hospital nursing school class which opened today, the first male nursing students ever admitted to a major Chicago hospital. Thirty women are in the class.

Miss Gladys Sandbig, director of the school, said acceptance of male students was taken at the request of Veterans' Administration officials. They said many veterans had desired to continue the work they learned in service.

Child Gets Three R's With Artificial Arms

Rockford, Mich., Sept. 4 —(AP)—Five-year-old Charlene Fisk, who will have to do her reading, writing, and "rithmetic with two artificial arms, began her school days yesterday.

The tiny farm girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fisk, lost both arms 11 months ago when she fell from a horse into the path of a hay-mower, but she manipulated her artificial limbs with a dexterity that made her the center of interest in the first grade classroom at Slinson school in nearby Cedar Springs.

"Charlene is going to make a fine student," observed her teacher Mrs. Katherine Harris.

The little first-grader's education is assured by a $32,000 fund raised by residents of Kent county

last year and held in trust for her by a Grand Rapids banking firm.

Increase in Income for Community High is Mt. Morris Issue

Referendum on Larger
Levy Will Be Held
September 23rd

(Telegraph Special Service)
Mt. Morris — Expenses of education fund in the Mount Morris Community High School, District 214, have increased 100 per cent since 1938. During the same period, the tax income of the district has increased only 21 per cent.

"It is this situation which must be brought to the voters of the district for correction," explains H. A. Hoff, principal of the high school. "The referendum vote is scheduled for September 23, from 12:00 noon to 7:00 p. m. in the Township Hall."

"Most medium and larger size high schools in Illinois face a similar situation. Neighboring school boards which have already scheduled a similar special fall referendum vote are Oregon, Byron, Rochelle, and Rockford."

"The confusion which exists in school taxation is caused by the Butler and Hodge bills, passed by the Illinois legislature. Two years ago the Butler tax laws were passed, allegedly to correct certain inequities in taxation, and to provide additional revenue from the property taxes of the state. To increase the taxable income, the bill featured a new method of appraising real estate which would result in a slightly higher tax.

The Butler bill was in effect for one year. It set the maximum rate without a referendum in the education fund at 50 per cent on full fair cash value, which amounted to 50 cents per $100 valuation.

School Boards Reluctant
"As soon as the Butler bills had been signed by the governor, certain organizations immediately swung into action to test their constitutionality. Most school boards, as a result, were reluctant to use the maximum rate allowed by the Butler bill to meet the growing expenses of secondary education. They were declared unconstitutional by the state Supreme Court after the 1946 levies were filed by the respective school boards."

"And now the 65th General Assembly has taken further steps to amend the five year control program of tax extension under the Butler tax laws."

"Known as the Hodge bill, this amendment restricts a board of education from levying more than 5 per cent over its 1945 levy. This restriction has lowered the maximum levy in the education fund of the Mount Morris Community High School to $34,504.65.

"On the other hand, the expenses in the education fund have increased from $24,939.01 in 1938 to $50,000.00 for the 1947-48 fiscal year. Teachers' salaries during this 10 year period have increased from $16,601.11 to $34,728.63. The number of teachers has remained constant during this period, except that one extra teacher is provided for in the 1947-48 levy. Other expenses have increased from $8,377.90 to $15,271.37."

Levy Made Annually
"More than 80 per cent of the income for high school boards of education is derived from the levy, which is made annually by the board. The maximum levy in 1938 was $28,540.00. Without a referendum, the maximum for 1947 would be $34,504.65. This is an increase of only 17 per cent, while the expenditures have increased over 100 per cent. It is interesting to note that during the same period, the weekly index of wholesale prices of all commodities also has increased 100 per cent. So the increase in teachers' salaries has barely kept pace with the increase in the cost of living."

"Therefore, as a result of the restrictive Hodge bill, each high school district must present its problems to its constituency and ask for increased funds through a referendum vote," points out O. A.

Hanke, president of the high school board of education.

"Because the education fund of the district will show a deficit of $16,000 by July 1, 1948, it is imperative that the referendum vote be taken before September 23, 1947. The new levy must be sent to the township treasurer by September 30, 1947. If the referendum would be delayed beyond this point, no increase in taxes could be received before 1948. By that time the district would be in debt almost hopelessly in its education fund."

Asked the always pertinent question, "What will be the results if the referendum is not passed?" Hanke points out that the board of education would have to do one of two things: Either eliminate four teachers, or operate the school on a seven months year rather than the required nine months period. In either of the above instances, of course, the high school would cease to be an accredited school.

"It should be pointed out that the purchase of the McNutt property last fall to expand the athletic field is not related to this problem. That money is derived from the building fund which is not involved in this referendum."

"The board of education is elected by the people to carry on the responsibilities of managing the high school efficiently. It has now reached a point because of increased operating expenses, beyond which it cannot go without increased levying authority.

"Mount Morris has always supported her schools in an excellent manner. The high school board is confident that the community will decide this issue is a positive way."

Officer Faces Trial on Mistreatment Charges

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 4—(AP)—The navy court martial of Lt. (jg) Richard Gascoigne, 28, charged with mistreating fellow war prisoners in Japan, entered the second week Wednesday, with defense counsel announcing he will

call two former prisoners of the Japanese.

Marine Capt. William Daubney, defense counsel, said he will call Marine Colonel James Devereaux, Gascoigne, whose home is in Washington, D. C.

Devereaux was captured by the Japanese on Wake island and was a prisoner until their surrender.

Daubney said he would also call Lt. Cmdr. Edward N. Little, Decatur, Ill., acquitted of similar charges by a court martial in Washington, D. C.

Gascoigne, whose home is in Lorain, Ohio, was associated with Little at the prison camp at Onoda, Kyushu, Japan.

You'll get dozens of lunches for youngsters' school lunches when you feast your eyes on all our jams, jellies, peanut butter, breads, cookies, candy bars and other childhood favorites. And you'll get a mighty pleasant surprise when you discover the everyday low prices in every department of your A&P. Stop in and take a look today!

British Purchases of U. S. Food Stop To Conserve Money

Dundee, Scotland, (Reuters) — Britain, in her new dollar-saving campaign, has stopped buying food from the United States, British Food Minister John Strachey disclosed here.

"We can manage for some time without buying any further food from that source," he said, but emphasized that it was essential that Britain imported raw materials such as cotton, jute, and iron ore, all of which had to be paid for.

"And to buy these things we must earn dollars, and the only way in which we can earn dollars is to export things to the United States," the minister continued.

Strict Limit
"Unfortunately, America does not buy very much from abroad over her high tariff system. That is why we shall have to limit our purchases in the United States very strictly indeed; why we simply cannot afford to buy anything from the United States which is not absolutely necessary; why we have, in effect, cut out American films; that is why we have had to economize drastically on American petrol by, in effect, abolishing pleasure motoring, and do without American foodstuffs, canned goods, some American meat, etc., which we would very much like to have. We just cannot buy these things because we haven't the dollars to pay for them."

Loans Only Stop Gays
Saying that in the long run the only way in which Britain could afford to pay for such imports again was for America to buy more things from Britain, Strachey added:

"American loans, grateful as we have been for them—and as we may be for any assistance under the Marshall plan or any other plan which may or may not materialize—can at best be only stopgaps and we must not for one moment rely on them."

Physical Medicine Aid to Promotion, Report

Minneapolis, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Physical medicine through its rapid expansion during the last 20 years has become one of the vital agents in keeping American production in high gear, Dr. H. Worley Kendell of the University of Illinois asserts.

Addressing the opening session of the 25th annual meeting of the American Congress of Physical Medicine, Dr. Kendell said the number of persons kept out of work by crippling injuries in a year is greater than the total casualties of the war. He added, however, that through application of physical medicine most of those crippled workers are returned to their jobs sooner than formerly.

Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November, 1863 as the first annual national Thanksgiving Day.
